GO RED GOES NORTH EVENT

Heart Disease is commonly believed to be a "man's problem" but the latest statistics tell another story. Coronary heart disease is the No. 1 killer of females in America today. Stroke is the third leading cause of death for females, behind heart disease and cancer, and a leading cause of serious, long-term disability. More than one in three females have some form of cardiovascular disease. Cardiovascular diseases claim more than 460,000 female lives every year – more than the next five causes of death combined, including cancer.

The American Heart Association's Go Red for Women campaign brings attention to the threat of heart disease to women as well as creates a call to action for all women to commit to living a heart-healthy lifestyle. The Go Red Goes North event is designed to create an inspirational and informative atmosphere, which will encourage women in communities across America to become champions of health. The event will also focus on the vitality and energy of women. During the event, guests will have the opportunity to participate in free health screenings, as well as interact with healthcare professionals about such topics as blood pressure, cholesterol, fitness and nutrition and stroke prevention. Participants can also take advantage of chair massages, mini-makeovers, and heart healthy refreshments.

2010 National Night Out

Our office participated in the 2010 National Night Out held at the Troy City Park which took place on August 3rd. The event celebrates civic pride and takes a stand against crime, drugs, and violence. It marked the 27th year that National Night Out has brought communities together to meet their neighbors, learn how to improve their communities, and just have a great time. This was the 2nd year we volunteered and passed out Fulton Farm sweet corn. We also passed out Con Agra Foods items.

The featured attraction was the Ohio Vietnam Veterans Wall presented by the Chained Eagles from Lima, Ohio. The night also featured guest speaker state representative Dr. Richard Adams (from the 79th District). There were taser demonstrations done by the Troy Police Department. Several area fire departments were represented at the event as well. Other visitors included McGruff the crime dog, and Ronald McDonald.

Our staff members enjoyed the evening and look forward to helping again in 2011! Did we mention that the event is FREE?! National Night Out generally takes place on the first Tuesday in August each year.
